

The Aetonic aTouchAway Tablet kit – What's in the box?

How to quickly get started with your aTouchAway tablet and the kit you've received from your health care provider.

Before opening the box, let your healthcare provider know that you've received your kit. A member of your care team may go through these instructions with you to get you started and acquainted with your tablet and kit.

1. Open the box

You'll see some printed instructions that match the information found in this series of help articles. Keep these documents as you can continue to refer to them if you have any questions during your treatment.

2. Verify that you have the equipment you will need

The kit will contain a Samsung Tablet. It may also contain some or all of the following, depending on your treatment plan:

- a tablet stand
- a blood pressure device
- an SPO2 monitor (blood oxygen levels)
- a scale
- a glucometer (blood sugar testing)
- a thermometer
